The country is undergoing a significant socio-economic change. With the real estate and retail boom, more and more families - especially from the rising middle-class, are rapidly upgrading their lifestyle.

With a change in economic status, comes a change of mindset. From humble beginnings as a novel product of convenience for the few, the use of elevators and escalators has become an essential mode of movement as opposed to conventional steps. It has transformed from a status symbol to an absolute necessity. So much so, people are no longer sceptical about their safety once they enter an elevator and are least mindful of their use.

This trust is the result of years of technical expertise put in by companies such as ours, only to ensure that you are safe at every step, as you move up... in life.
